

ALWAYS AHEAD

EVERYTHING is in our favor for a busy week. The young men are with us, the weather is propitious, we have the goods the people want and at the PROPER PRICES and WE are doing the clothing business of the town.

We have a large assortment of those ultra-stylish DOUBLE-BREADED cutaway sack and frock suits that our competitors advertise as the latest wrinkle and claim originality for, but which were introduced by US last season, which is only another proof that in the matter of NEW STYLES we are always at least one season AHEAD of the other dealers hereabouts.

Our Fall OVERCOATS have the call these days, and just so, too, as no more stylish and serviceable garments were ever seen in the city. All sizes, shapes, colors and grades. Can suit anybody. Call and see them.

ONE EFFECT OF THE TARIFF BILL.

Internal Revenue Officers Fearful They May Lose Their Places.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 2.—The passage of the tariff bill by Congress has made a considerable commotion among certain Republican officeholders here. As all special taxes are repealed and the tax on manufactured tobacco is reduced from 5 to 6 cents, and as the special taxes are the bulk of internal revenue business in this State, it is thought that on or about May 1, 1891, this district will be attached to that of Georgia. Dr. H. C. Mosley, Jr., chairman of the State Republican executive committee and collector of internal revenue for this district, has gone to Washington to look into the situation.

Denouncing Balfour's Policy.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 2.—Two thousand Irishmen met in Tomlinson Hall last night to express their indignation at the recent arrest of Messrs. O'Brien and Dillon. Mayor Sullivan presided. Resolutions bitterly denouncing the Balfour policy were put through with a hurrah.

"Police Row" Came Out.

Sergeant Kautcher and Officers Trainer and Sullivan of the Second Precinct raided a police shop, No. 1207, Biadene's alley, last night and arrested writers, W. H. Barlow and Samuel Harrison, both colored. They were charged with making a nuisance of the place by receiving the books and other paraphernalia, the officers found $250 in cash.

Contracts Awarded.

The Commissioners have awarded the contract for building the new ward at the Washington Asylum at A. W. Sweetser, the lowest bidder, at $4,185.60.

W. F. Kerby & Bro. were awarded the contract for building the new public school house on Eleventh street, between G and I streets, at $22,575.

BUCK AND TOM

WHY THE TEXAN WITHDREW HIS PARALYZING POINT.

THE ALLIANCE VICTORY IN GEORGIA.

They Will Have a Two-Thirds Majority in the Legislature.

GORDON WILL NOT BE U. S. SENATOR.

Norwood May, or Livingston, or Perhaps Northern—Postmaster Whelan's Expulsion.

The first session of the Fifty-first Congress expired yesterday at 6 o'clock p. m., quietly and decently. There was but one episode of more than fleeting interest. That was the adoption by the House of the resolution reported from the Committee on Accounts declaring vacant the office of postmaster of the House.

After a rambling and desultory debate it was adopted, and Mr. Whelan ceased to be an officer of the House of Representatives. His son, Walter, was not touched by the resolution, but will probably resign to Deputy Postmaster Hooper, who will now be in charge.

The only other thing of interest was John Allen's determined efforts to obtain permission to extend in the record his remarks on the tariff and appropriations. To secure this the funnier from the Yazoo insisted on the point of no quorum, and as there were but a few over 100 members present he had the House by the throat. It is hardly necessary to add that he got what he wanted. And there is it demonstrated once more that the advice is sound which says, "If you don't see what you want, ask for it."

When 6 o'clock came, the Speaker said: "The house, at 6 o'clock, having arrived, in accordance with the resolution adopted by the two Houses of Congress, I now declare the House of Representatives of the first session of the Fifty-first Congress to be adjourned without day."

This was all. No flowers, no resolutions, no speeches, no courtesies. Nothing but applause, which evidenced the pleasure of the members at the idea of getting away.

A good deal of speculation has been indulged in as to Colonel Buck Kilgore's reason for making the point of order of no quorum and then withdrawing it. It seems that last Tuesday Colonel Kilgore went up to Speaker Reed and asked to be recognized to call up a private bill.

"Recognize you," exclaimed Reed in a semi-jocular vein, "not much. I had the authority I prefer to give you a hundred dollars for kicking down that door."

"But you can't do that," replied Kilgore. "I always know what I am kicking before I kick."

"And I know who I am going to recognize," retorted Reed.

"All right," said Kilgore, "I'll lay for you."

The Texan lay for the Speaker, and yesterday he got him. The point of no quorum tied up the House. Reed accordingly sent for Kilgore and questioned him to withdraw his paralyzing point.

"I will do it," said the Texan, "if you will recognize me later to call up my private bill."

"Oh, come, Buck," said the Speaker persuasively, "you know I can't promise that."

"Then," said Kilgore with a laugh, "this house shall do any business to-day."

"Now, look here, Buck," expostulated the whiffen Creeper, anxious to see the whiffen Creeper revive, you know I'm your friend, and I only refused to recognize you for pure devilment. Why, it was only the other day I served Lodge the same way, and you know the closest friend I've got on the floor, set up, and the first opportunity I got I'll recognize you. Let's shake hands on that and be friends."

"All right," said Buck, "I'll go you."

And the two big men shook hands heartily, Kilgore nearly pulling Reed out of his chair, while the other members watched the trials were talking and laughing about it.

It soon transpired, for Kilgore went back to his seat, addressed the Speaker and announced that he withdrew his point of no quorum. The wheels began to go round again. But Kilgore didn't get a chance to call his bill up. It is safe to gamble that he will have a chance to call it up early next session, however. Meanwhile the Texan and the Maine are friends.

The State election in Georgia passed off quietly yesterday. A high vote was polled. The Democratic ticket, to which there was no serious opposition, was elected. It was composed of W. J. Southern, Governor; R. C. Henderson, Treasurer; W. A. Wright, Comptroller-General; R. T. Nesbitt, Commissioner of Agriculture; Phil Cook, Secretary of State. They represent the Alliance wing of the party.

The State Legislature, which will elect a successor to Senator Joseph E. Brown, is overwhelmingly Alliance. On joint ballot of the two houses the Alliance will have more than a two-thirds majority.

This result will probably prove disastrous to Governor John B. Gordon's ambition to return to the United States Senate. General Gordon resigned from the Senate eight or ten years ago to make way for Brown, who had become rich in the railroad business. Gordon tried his hand at railroading and was reported to have made a fortune. He was reported later on that he had lost it. Then he returned to politics and was elected Governor. Either through pride or because he misunderstood the meaning or underestimated his strength, Gordon antagonized the Alliance element, and by the time it

QUAY'S OPPONENTS DETERMINED TO DEFEAT DELAMATER.

VICTORY IS CONFIDENTLY EXPECTED.

Many Prominent Republicans Enrolled in the Independent Cause.

EX-GOVERNOR PATTON ON THE STUMP.

Calculating on Turning Six Oil Counties Over to the Democracy—Quayism Will Be Retained.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—Signs of Republican dissatisfaction multiply on all sides. Day by day the revolt against Boss Quay becomes more widespread and powerful, and it begins to look as if the result would be a reduplication of New York's election of 1883, when Cleveland was swept into office over a candidate nominated by trickery, by an unprecedented majority.

The address of the Independent Republican State Committee, which was published Wednesday last, was followed Friday by ex-Senator Emery's convincing proof of his charges against Delamater, and, simultaneously with that, came the announcement of a strong organization of INDEPENDENT REPUBLICANS in Pittsburgh to work for Patton, quite distinct from the movement which Chris. May has been making to turn Allegheny County Republican.

This week some additional bombshells are looked for, which are expected to startle the Republican camp.

The address of the Independent Republican State Committee, signed by 105 Republicans representing fifty of the most important counties of the State, is the most significant feature of the campaign. Before a fortnight is passed every one of the sixty-seven counties in Pennsylvania will have an independent organization, for the movement is more thorough and complete than it was in 1882, when Patton was elected and Cameronism rebuffed.

A glance over the names attached to the proclamation shows the character of the men who have gone into the fight.

THE ABLEST AND BEST MEN in every section of the Commonwealth have aligned themselves with the Schuylkill County, where the movement is in a state of utter demoralization, appear the names of General A. K. Sigfried, who has been a candidate for Governor, before two or three Republican State conventions; Samuel A. Leach, formerly one of Quay's first lieutenants; and F. R. Kantner, one of Schuylkill County's delegates to the convention that nominated Delamater.

The sentiment of this county was overwhelmingly for Hastings, but all the delegates except Kantner

CRIMED TO QUAY AND VOTED FOR DELAMATER.

When Kantner returned home the Republicans of the county showed their appreciation of his course and their contempt for the other delegates by holding a public reception in his honor and presenting him with a gold-headed cane bearing the suggestive inscription, "To an honest delegate."

Among the local names attached to the list are Warton Barker, the banker, who was one of the original Harrison men, and who was prominently mentioned for a Cabinet position; Professor Thompson of the University of Pennsylvania; Charles J. Haskins, president of the Midvale Steel Works, one of the largest industrial establishments in the State, and many other prominent persons.

Judging by the present bitter feeling against Quay and Delamater, the Independents confidently expect to turn over to Patton six oil counties—McKean, Warren, Crawford, Delamater's home, Venango, Forest and Clearfield—two years ago gave Harrison nearly 7,500 majority. They have hopes also of carrying Bradford County, usually given for about 4,000 Republican majority, where that party is strong.

SPILT FAIRLY IN TWO: of reducing by one-half Tioga County's majority of nearly 5,000, and of making similar gains in nearly all the Republican counties. From the Democratic counties largely increased majorities are expected. Not even a lavish expenditure of money in seeking to corrupt Democrats can save the Republicans from defeat.

EX-GOVERNOR PATTON left the city Sunday night on a campaigning tour of two weeks in the western counties of the State. Upon his return, after a day or two of rest, he will make a tour of the counties of the Susquehanna, and nothing will be left undone to arouse the enthusiasm of the Democracy. Every county in the State will be visited and the good effects of this campaign work will be strongly felt on election day.

An address signed by Justus C. Strassbridge, chairman, and Herbert Wink, secretary and treasurer of the Lincoln Independent Republican Committee, has been issued, asking the soldiers of the State to oppose Ross by voting against "a candidate for Governor who calls himself a Republican, but who, if Lincoln represented Republicans, is not one."

Masked Train A Rob—Successfully Robbed an Express Car.

THEIR, OTO, Oct. 2.—As train No. 2 on the Cincinnati, Sandusky and Cleveland Railroad was pulling out of Urbana this morning at 2 o'clock, two masked men broke in the Adams Express Company's car, and, presenting revolvers at the head of Arch L. Scudder, the express messenger, demanded his keys.

Scudder surrendered and was gagged. The robbers then rifled Scudder's pockets, securing $75 in money, his watch, and, with the keys, tilted the safe of its contents, about $1,000. The train had reached a small town, West Liberty, by this time, and the robbers left the car and took a position upon the platform. Scudder succeeded in calling the attention of the local agent to his condition and was liberated and the alarm given, but the robbers covered the trainmen with their guns and ordered the train to proceed, which it did, and just as they reached Bellefontaine, the robbers left the train and disappeared in the darkness with the booty.

ALARM AMONG FOREIGN MANUFACTURERS

The Tariff Bill Will Seriously Check Export Trade of England.

Commercial Agent Smyth at Huddersfield, England, in a report to the Department of State on trade with the United States, says that the action of the House of Representatives on the tariff question has had the effect of creating widespread alarm among the manufacturers there. The operation of a new tariff law with increased duties on textile fabrics will, it is believed, seriously check the export trade of Huddersfield. This applies particularly to the woolen and worsted trade, so strongly entrenched there. There has been a general move on the part of exporters to anticipate the tariff law, and to make a speculative turn, resulting in a large increase of exports. In regard to the anti-tariff agitation in Sheffield, Mr. Smyth says that, "while certain political and mercantile influences have been set on foot to work among the manufacturers of Sheffield to declare open war on the American policy of protection, the manufacturers and exporters of this district, who are much more vitally concerned, maintain a respectful attitude, and await calmly the enforcement of a policy which has already been largely increased, owing to the threatened renewal of 'Jack the Ripper's' operations. The officers are instructed to resume the extraordinary precautions which were caused by the disappearance of the mysterious 'Ripper' after his last horrible butchery, though they were not successful in leading to his detection."

One hundred Deputies and fifty-three Senators of the Italian Parliament have declared themselves in favor of a divorce law similar to the measure now in operation in France. The clericals vigorously oppose the project.

EXPLOITS OF "RED JIM."

THE CAREER OF "RED JIM" M'DERMOTT, THE BRITISH ROY.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Michael Darrig gave the second installment of his sensational story of the dynamite plot in his paper, the "Daily Mail," to-day. He narrates that before McDermott "Red Jim" left New York he was told that an official from Dublin Castle would call upon him at a hotel in Liverpool.

McDermott reached Dublin in February, 1888. He visited the office of the National League and found it a disappointment, representing himself as a constable, and produced a letter from Lord Palmerston to that effect. McDermott intimated also that he was really an agent of Sir Donovan Ross, and was in London on a visit to the British Government.

At this time, February, 1888, Healy

Death of an American Artist—Sullivan Will Not Fight Slavin—A Suicide Due to Imagination.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Notwithstanding denials of disaster, much anxiety is felt at the Cape and in England regarding the expedition to Masanaland, no definite news having been received for several days. It is known that Lobengula, King of the Matabele, views the expedition with disfavour, and that his 300,000 warriors have been anxious for his orders to begin an attack. Apprehension is also expressed that the expedition, which was gotten together hastily, is not equipped for effective resistance against an onslaught of the savages.

Lord Wolseley assumed command of the troops in Ireland yesterday. He expressed his satisfaction at the excellent condition in which the forces had been left by his predecessor, Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar. The Royal Irish Dragoons have been moved from New Brighton to Dublin.

The reported attempt to wreck a train conveying the Car from St. Petersburg to Warsaw has not created surprise in St. Petersburg. The Car himself has for some time been aware that the nihilist conspirator were again active, and during the recent maneuvers in Southern Russia he personally had been ordered that no person should be permitted to enter Rovno, where he made his headquarters, without special permission from the chief of police of Rovno.

This precaution, then, regarded as extraordinary, appears now to have been well grounded. The renewed persecution of the Jews is held responsible in some quarters for the attempt on the Car's life, and this allegation will doubtless be seized upon as a pretext for still further harshness toward this proscribed people.

The number of police in the White Chapel district has been largely increased, owing to the threatened renewal of "Jack the Ripper's" operations. NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The New York Central officials have decided that no more Knights of Labor shall be employed on the road, and to-day Vice-President Webb issued a circular directing the heads of the various departments to make their decision known.

The circular is addressed to the general manager, general superintendent, chief engineer, and superintendent of motive power and rolling stock as to the recent strike and acts of lawlessness committed in connection therewith, the published correspondence between the leaders of the organization that ordered it, and the fact that many men now seeking employment state that they quit work from fear of personal violence and did not dare to offer to resume work for the same reason, completed the management of the company to announce that it objects to its employees being members of the organization known as the "Knights of Labor."

The management said that membership in this particular organization is inconsistent with faithful and efficient service to the company and liable at any time to prevent it from properly discharging its duties to the public, will bring this circular to the attention of employees in their respective departments.

General Superintendent Voorhes said to-day that the circular means precisely what it says. Knights must either give up their membership in the order or leave the road.
